INTEREST DRAWN TO FARM RELIEF

Few Problems Permanently Solved as Legislators Struggle With Emergency Matters.

BY NATHAN ROBERTSON.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—(AP)—Despite the multiplicity of its enactments, congress has left behind a great variety of issues, headed by the growing prohibition controversy, for the approaching political campaign and future sessions.

No congress since the war wrote so much important legislation onto the statute books, but almost every minute of the session just ended was spent with grappling with emergency relief measures. Few of the permanent problems were solved.

The session ended in a whirl of debate on the prohibition question, almost bound to be projected as approaching presidential and congressional races and made one of the predominant problems at the short session of congress beginning in December.

Pressing close behind the prohibition question in the closing hours were the demands of agricultural states for legislation to relieve the farmer. Unless farm commodity prices take a tremendous jump meanwhile, the next session will find these demands renewed with greater vigor.

Question Not Settled.

While congress dealt emphatically with the problem of war debts, voting almost unanimously against any revision or cancellation, many members predicted the question was not yet settled, and in some quarters there were prophecies a special session would be called to deal with the issue.

The senate made no attempt to dispose of the controversial and politically potent Root protocol for American preference to the world court. This treaty was left resting on its calendar for the next session.

Other questions not solved, or only temporarily settled by congress, included the aging Muscle Shoals problem, naval construction, banking laws reform, Philippine independence, cash payment of the bonus and currency inflation.

Philippine independence legislation was approved by the house but never reached a vote in the senate. It has a preferred status on the senate calendar for the first week of the next session.

What treatment congress will give next December to the prohibition question depends largely upon the outcome of the intervening elections. Legislation to repeal the eighteenth amendment and modify the Volstead act is pending in both houses, and in the senate resolutions to change the prohibition laws are on the calendar.

Opponents of these laws forced many votes in both houses during the session; but while they gained votes in several cases, were only victorious once.

That was yesterday, on the final prohibition vote of the session, when the senate, 57 to 21, voted to take up

Panama President-Elect Saluted by U. S. Cannon

NEW YORK, July 17.—(AP)—The presidential salute of 21 guns boomed into the harbor's Sunday silence today, when the United Fruit liner, Quirigua, bearing President-elect Harmodio Arias, of Panama, passed Governor's island.

The visitor, who is here unofficially, will remain in New York a few days and then go on to Washington, D. C., where he will be received by President Hoover.

Governor Juan Antonius Jimenez, of Panama, and Edward M. Sosa, the president-elect's secretary, accompanied him here.

PRESIDENT HOOVER WILL SIGN RELIEF MEASURE TUESDAY

WASHINGTON, July 17.—(AP)—The $2,122,000,000 relief bill, passed after weeks of dispute, will be signed by the president Tuesday, it is this clause that the comptroller-general will scrutinize and report on to Mr. Hoover. The former will get the bill tomorrow.

The bank measure was adopted in the closing hours of congress with a provision calling for expansion of the currency by nearly $1,000,000,000. It is this clause that the comptroller-general will scrutinize and report on to Mr. Hoover. The former will get the bill tomorrow.

That Mr. Hoover intends to approve the relief bill was made known in a statement issued today at the White House. The chief executive prepared it before he left for his Rapidan camp.

He said there were some minor features he disliked but its good points outweighed the bad.

"It is a step toward recovery," Mr. Hoover said.

Word that the home loan bank bill would be "examined" carefully before the president takes action came at the time the statement was issued. There was no indication what Mr. Hoover thinks of the clause, sponsored by Senator Archibald H. Rea, of Virginia, former secretary of the treasury, to put additional money into circulation. The president expressed his appreciation to those who shaped the relief measure and helped eliminate "destructive proposals."

He and Speaker Garner, democratic vice presidential nominee, had sharp differences of opinion over the measure. Mr. Hoover vetoed one bill because it contained a provision for loans to individuals.

Mr. Hoover enumerated major features of the bill.

Tunney To Speak For Democrats

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., July 17.—(AP)—Gene Tunney, retired world's heavyweight boxing champion, has decided to try his hand at politics.

He has been mentioned frequently as a possible democratic candidate for United States senator, but his role for the present at least will be that of a campaigner rather than an aspirant for office.

The retired boxer, who once gave a lecture on Shakespeare before Professor William Lyon Phelps' class at Yale, offered his services to the democratic party for the coming campaign during a conference last week in Bridgeport before the Connecticut Federation of Democratic Women's Clubs.

Political leaders have yet to map out a program for Tunney but they believe he is probably being asked to take the stump. The former champion is scheduled to make his first appearance in his new role Tuesday when he will speak at a garden party in Bridgeport.

Loan Publicity Seen as Bar To Partisan Use of U. S. Funds

WASHINGTON, July 17.—Now that the new Reconstruction Finance Corporation bill has been adopted, it can be stated that one of the principal reasons for the insistence by democrats on retention of the loans publicity clause was to prevent republicans from using such loans as a source of campaign contributions.

Whether there was any studied program to raise campaign contributions from the beneficiaries of the loans, no one can say, of course; but, expressing it mildly, there was a suspicion on the part of democrats that those in charge of replenishing the republican war chest might not be able to resist the temptation to levy a contribution toll upon many of the fortunate borrowers. The suspicion went so far in some cases as to impute to the republicans an arrangement whereby it would be understood in advance of certain loans that the beneficiaries would be called upon later to do their bit toward defraying the expense incident to advancing the cause of the Hoover-Curtis ticket.

In any event, the publicity clause will act as a sort of stopgap for such maneuvers. By having the loans published every month as they come along it will be possible for the democrats to scrutinize the list of borrowers closely in connection with the list of campaign contributors.

VETS UNCERTAIN AS LEGISLATORS QUIT WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, July 17.—(AP)—Wary leaders of the bonus army indulged today in uncertain discussion of what to do next, while their followers, exhausted by a demonstration against congress' adjournment, sprawled waiting in their ramshackle billets.

There were two active spots in the ranks of the war veterans who for six weeks have clamored at the doors of congress for the payment of the bonus.

On Constitution avenue, not far from the White House, a contingent calling themselves the "Conquering Christian Crusaders" held a meeting which advocated repeal of the eighteenth amendment, bonus payment and a $10,000,000,000 prosperity loan.

At Camp Anacostia, W. W. Waters, commander of one wing of the army, held a formal review of his ragged troops. Forming in a divisional front the men went through all the military formations. Like a major general he took the salute of the marching companies.

The California group, which marched in front of the capital for four days and nights, took little interest in anything but rest and food.

Their leader, Roy W. Robertson, held a conference with his assistants, which he said developed nothing.

"This is a day of rest—and hunger," he said. "All we tried to do was to get some food for these men."

He said he would not join Waters in plans for the future.

"They have incorporated the B. E. F.," he added, "and I don't want to get mixed up in any fraternal organization."

Waters, arrested yesterday for leading a rush on the capitol building against police orders but later released, said he was not in position today to say what he and his followers would do.

President Hoover departed early in the day for his Rapidan camp, leaving a heavily guarded White House, secure last night of a picketing attempt by about 100 men.

Just before congress adjourned last night, a group of veterans appeared on the broad walk in front of the executive mansion. Police broke their ranks quickly after a brief tussle in which three of the leaders, including William Ledoux, New York social worker, were arrested.

All the veterans in Washington may until July 25 draw railroad fare from the veterans' administration for a return trip ticket home. The administration building was closed today, however, therefore there was no exodus of government workers.

Little sign of informal departures.

Ledoux was out on bond today after spending the night in jail on a charge of disorderly conduct.

A man named M. Weinstein signed his bond. Ledoux will be tried tomorrow morning in police court.

Attalant Dies in Auto Crash

Miss Natalie de Golan, widely known young Atlanta society woman, shown above, was instantly killed early Sunday with Mrs. William Binford when a car in which they were riding with Mr. Binford collided with a truck near Seneca, S. C. Mr. Binford, at left, who was injured seriously, is in the Piedmont hospital here.

HEAT WAVE TAKES FIRST LIFE HERE

LOS ANGELES, July 17.—(AP)—A Decatur man was dead and an Atlanta child was prostrated Sunday by the heat wave which has swept over the south last week, according to reports.

The man was George O. Mabry, a Decatur mechanic, and the child was Ruby Weaver, 3, of 436 McFay street, who was stricken while attending church with her mother, Mrs. Viola Weaver, Sunday morning.

Mr. Mabry, 46 years old and widely known in Decatur, suffered a sunstroke last Wednesday afternoon as he worked at his position as mechanic in a Decatur motor company garage. He lapsed into unconsciousness and was taken to his home at 919 Church street, Decatur.

Though his condition at first did not seem serious, he grew steadily worse, and died Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock at his residence. Doctors gave the cause of death as "heat intoxication as the result of working in extreme heat."

The Weaver child, while at the church with its mother, became feverish and semi-conscious. She was taken to Grady hospital for treatment and allowed to go home. Attached at the hospital reported that her illness was caused by the heat.

Mr. Mabry was a native of Walnut Grove, Ga., where his father, the late Dr. G. O. Mabry, was a leading citizen. He had resided in Decatur for several years.

Surviving Mr. Mabry are his mother, Mrs. G. O. Mabry Sr., of Walnut Grove, and three sisters, Mrs. C. W. White, of Decatur; Miss Gertrude Mabry, of Atlanta, and Miss Georgia Mabry, of Walnut Grove; and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services are to be held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Walnut Grove Methodist church, and interment will be in the Walnut Grove cemetery. A. S. Turner & Sons are in charge.

Cooling thunder showers were predicted for Atlanta and vicinity Monday by the weather bureau. The light rains are due to fall during the afternoon, running the temperature downward. The mercury reached a height of 95 degrees Sunday afternoon at Chandler field.

Howard Coffin Hurt In Auto Accident

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 17.—(AP)—Howard Coffin, of Sea Island Beach and Detroit, was slightly injured this evening in Liberty county when the automobile in which he was returning from Savannah to his home at Sapelo was crowded off the narrow bridge by another car and plunged into a gully below as a point near the Lyman Hall place not far from Midway. Mr. Coffin miraculously escaped death. He sustained a deep gash in his left hand, necessitating seven or eight stitches, and numerous bruises and small lacerations. His car was completely demolished.

It is understood the occupants of the other car were a young man and girl from Virginia who were traveling northward. Mr. Coffin, who was traveling alone, veered to the right when he saw them coming onto the bridge, but was unable to avert a crash enough to avoid the other car colliding with and knocking his car off the road, it was said.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—(UP)—Full public control of holding companies operating in the power utility field was advocated today by the power commission as "absolutely essential in the public interest."

In a preliminary report on a year's investigation, the commission said, "such control to be adequate would include in its scope the service (management and engineering) organizations of these holding companies, with supervision of all contracts between holding companies and their operating companies," and "supervision of the issue of securities to the investing public."

This would include regulation of accounts with requirements providing specifically for the filing of financial and other reports on prescribed forms with full publicity.

To avoid duplication of the federal trade commission's investigation of the financial setup of power companies, the power commission did not go into the subject of write-ups of assets, overcapitalization and the like. It said, however, that the data collected disclosed "the dominance of the holding company" in the power field covered by projects licensed by the federal government.

The experience of the commission in its accounting activities had already developed the fact that much of the information necessary to hold together within the control of holding companies, the report said, "I would like to see the accounts of the licensees are subject to scrutiny by the federal power commission... the books of a licensee as a general rule do not reflect detailed information."

The commission said the companies in general co-operated fully in giving information for the inquiry, but the

Woman Gives Self Up In Policeman's Death

CHARLOTTE, N. C., July 17.—(AP)—A woman giving her name as Beatrice Stupis, of Columbia, S. C., surrendered to Charlotte police late today in connection with the fatal shooting of a short time earlier of Elliott Harris, a Yale common law student, near Fort Mill, S. C.

Officers said they were informed Harris was shot with his own pistol after a fight with a woman. They reported that the woman seized the officer's gun and opened fire on him.

In making this report, Charlotte police said they understood he died within a short time.

The two men were in the automobile had not been apprehended early tonight.

Third Degree Death of Youth Brings Prompt State Action

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 17.—(UP)—Assistant District Attorney Martin W. Littleton today impounded all the police records concerning the arrest and alleged third degree of Hyman Stark, 20-year-old youth who died Friday after being "questioned" by detectives.

The evidence will be presented to Supreme Court Justice Meier Steinbrink, sitting at Minneapolis as a magistrate, tomorrow. Littleton declined, meanwhile, to comment on the case.

District Attorney Elvin N. Edwards, before returning to Atlantic City, where he is spending his vacation, openly charged Stark's death was due to "overzealousness by the police."

Investigation at the Nassau county hospital, where Stark died, indicated that death was caused by "strangulation" after his larynx had been broken. Stark was a native of New York.

"An overzealous police officer broke Stark's Adam's apple," Edwards said tersely.

Meanwhile, Frank Tappan, deputy chief of police of Nassau county, who was present while Stark was being interrogated, and Detective Joseph H. Henski, who conducted some of the questioning, were suspended, and the Guards Keep Curious From Evangelist as She Fights for Life.

LOS ANGELES, July 17.—(AP)—Attendants posted amid domes and minarets of Aimee McPherson-Hutton's Moorish castle at Lake Elsinore today kept the evangelist, in the complete seclusion her physician said was essential for her recovery from a fractured skull.

Relays of supplicants in the "watch tower" of her Angelus temple in Los Angeles continued unceasing prayers for her recovery.

Dr. Edward Huntington Williams said Mrs. Hutton spent a restful night and that her condition, on the whole, was better than it was several days ago.

She received a fracture of the basal type, the physician said, when she fell in a faint on learning Myrtle Pittman, a nurse, had won a $5,000 verdict against her husband, David Hutton, in a breach of promise suit.

The castle, upon which a lien was filed last week to secure a $10,000 judgment in a film contract suit against Mrs. Hutton, is 80 miles from Los Angeles and more than a mile from a telephone. It is inclosed by a wall. The heavy gates are guarded.

Dr. Williams said "the fracture is extensive, with the danger of a cerebral hemorrhage."

Aimee, Gospel Gold-Digger, and charges by the city social service commission of "charity racketeering" in the Angelus temple community have developed since the trial of Miss St. Pierre's suit.

His car was completely demolished.

It is understood the occupants of the other car were a young man and girl from Virginia who were traveling northward. Mr. Coffin, who was traveling alone, veered to the right when he saw them coming onto the bridge, but was unable to avert a crash enough to avoid the other car colliding with and knocking his car off the road, it was said.

Lillian Gish Plays in 'Camille' As Mining Town Recalls Infancy

BY COLIN SCOTT HERSHEY, CENTRAL CITY, Colo., July 17.—(AP)—This mining ghost town, deep in the mountains 50 miles west of Denver, has awakened to interrupt the modern hush of time and to live again the riotous days and nights of the west in its lustrous infancy.

The revival centers about re-dedication of the historic Central City opera house, opened again last night after years of desolation.

Miss Lillian Gish, heading a New York cast under direction of Robert Edmond Jones, began an eight day engagement of "Camille, the Lady of the Camellias," done in the manner of 1878.

A throwback to the days when burro trains picked their way into town laden with gold ore is being dramatized here both in the opera house and in steep streets of this hamlet, once a roaring metropolis of more than 60,000 persons. Streets are jammed with men and women in costumes of the gold strike era. Sounds of gaiety resound in the Gold Coin saloon and from the dining room of the Teller house. It was into this famous inn that President U. S. Grant once stepped from a stage coach to a walk of solid silver ingots. Expecting a record crowd for the opening of the first annual play festival with Camille, the little town was hardly prepared for the throngs that filled the streets.

Two old-fashioned barouches carried members of Denver's most fashionable circles to and from summer homes. Men were dressed as gentlemen of the day, gamblers and scouts. Women wore brocades, bustles and rich velvets.

COUNCIL STUDIES 'MERGER' TODAY

City and County Plan To Be Considered at Regular Session.

Sweeping changes in the city government and the Atlanta board of education will be considered at the regular session of the city council today.

One of the major measures provided for unifying the municipality and those portions of Fulton and DeKalb counties which lie inside the limits into a separate county and municipality. The proposal has the unanimous backing of the charter revision committee as does another one to establish a board of education consisting of 5 members to replace the present board of 14.

Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, of the 12 ward, will fight an adverse report of the charter revision group to a proposal for reduction of the council from its present membership of 39 to 18. Gilliam proposes one councilman from the present 13 wards and five aldermen, one from the city at large and four from each of the quadrants.

Two proposed ordinances, championed by Councilman Ellis B. Barrett, of the 13 ward, also will be before the council. One would assess motor carriers from 5 to 20 cents a mile for every mile traveled on Atlanta streets.

The other makes it unlawful for any store operator to misrepresent "fire-closing out, bankruptcy" sales and fixes a maximum penalty of $200 on conviction of violation of the ordinance.

Mayor James L. Key and administration leaders favor the council reduction plan. They insist that even though a resolution asking for a separate county for the municipality of Atlanta will be proposed, that such a change will entail a constitutional amendment and probably could not be made effective for the next two years. Proponents of the council reduction plan cite the fact that Atlanta has an even more drastic change and that the vote was a mandate to council the Georgia assembly and all other governmental agencies to accede to their wishes and reduce council "in the interest of more efficient and expeditious government."

CONGRESS FORGETS OLD FORMALITIES ON QUITTING WORK

WASHINGTON, July 17.—(AP)—Actual adjournment of congress last night was to say the least—just a bit informal.

Old-timers around the capitol do not remember that the senate ever before adjourned "sine die," or for good, without first having consent of the house. Legally, it can't be done.

Usually a resolution is adopted setting the adjournment hour, and it goes to the house and is approved there. Then, when the time comes, vice president and speaker bang gavels and it's all over.

But the senate adjourned last night and sent the resolution to the house. If it had decided not to adjourn, there would have been a muddle. No one branch of congress is allowed to quit for keeps without consent of the other. The senate would have had to come back to work.

Furthermore, both branches forgot the customary formality of sending a committee to tell the president congress was ready to go home—was there anything else he wished, please?

On top of that, neither vice president Curtis nor Speaker Garner occupied the respective chairs at the time of adjournment. Senator Moses, republican, New Hampshire, was in the chair when the more to adjourn went through. Representative McDuffie, of Alabama, functioned for Speaker Garner, who was then miles and miles away, bound for Texas to "rest and fish."

Stratton leaders favor the council reduction plan. They insist that even though a resolution asking for a separate county for the municipality of Atlanta will be proposed, that such a change will entail a constitutional amendment and probably could not be made effective for the next two years. Proponents of the council reduction plan cite the fact that Atlanta has an even more drastic change and that the vote was a mandate to council the Georgia assembly and all other governmental agencies to accede to their wishes and reduce council "in the interest of more efficient and expeditious government."

PUBLISHERS PASS MEMBERSHIP GOAL

First Session of Association Will Be Held This Morning.

BY W. F. CALDWELL, ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 17.—(AP)—The Southern Newspaper Publishers' Association experienced a net gain of six members in the past year and have assurances of several publishers that they expect to join within a few months.

This was made known here tonight by Cragston Williams, secretary-manager, in releasing his annual report to the convention, which gets underway tomorrow. He said that a goal of 200 paid-up members was fixed several years ago and the net membership now stands at 202 and, "I am delighted to report that our goal must be increased now."

His report reviewed the activities of his office for the year and declared "it is possible for me to appraise association activities for the year just passed. I believe I can say that it has been the most active since I came with the S. N. P. A. There have been many more things and many different kinds of things to handle. Problems have been unusual and pressing. The active interest of all of the officers and directors has been outstanding."

The association has five honorary life members. They are F. J. Seely, Nashville, Tenn., former publisher of the Atlanta Georgian; Adolph S. Ochs, publisher of the New York Times; M. E. Foster, editor of the Houston Chronicle; Urey Woodson, former publisher of the Owensboro Messenger, and Walter E. Savory, of the Morgantown Lincoln-type Company.

The report noted that this is the thirtieth anniversary of the founding of the S. N. P. A. and that this year had to be fixed with regard to the time of the Chicago political convention, so as to avoid a conflict.

The definition of a newspaper as used in an address by Colonel Robert R. McCormick, of the Chicago Tribune, was unusual and pressing. Williams as an effective definition of a newspaper today. It follows:

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mould public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

The first session of the S. N. P. A. will be called to order at 9:30 tomorrow morning at the Grove Park inn by Clark Howell Jr., its president. Major Howell is business manager of the Atlanta Constitution and was elected president of the S. N. P. A. at its convention here one year ago. The sessions will continue through Wednesday of this week.

MRS. ROBERT BULKLEY DIES IN CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 17.—(AP)—Mrs. Robert J. Bulkley, 45, wife of United States Senator Bulkley, died early today in Lakeside hospital from a heart attack. She had been ill for more than a year.

Senator Bulkley was en route to Cleveland and expected to arrive here tonight.

Mrs. Bulkley was born in Helena, Mont., and as Katherine Pope she married Senator Bulkley in 1900. She was prominent in Cleveland society. Besides her husband she is survived by two children, Robert J. Jr. and Miss Katherine Bulkley, and two sisters, Mrs. A. G. Fleming and Mrs. W. M. Biggs, both of Helena, Mont., and one brother, W. R. Pope, of Great Falls, Mont.

FRANK DREW.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., July 17.—(AP)—Frank Drew, 65, son of former Governor George F. Drew, died at Luraville, in Suwannee county, late today.

M. Drew was a member of the state legislature in 1905 and was state tax equalizer from 1929 to 1931. He built the first railroad in Taylor and Lafayette counties in 1901 and was a director of the Florida Historical Society. He was author of a number of pamphlets on taxation.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete but burial will take place at Jacksonville. He is survived by his widow, three sons and three daughters.

SIR JOHN FERGUSON.

LONDON, July 17.—(AP)—Sir John Ferguson, conservative member of the house of commons for the Twickenham division of Middlesex since 1929, died today. He was 62 years old.

Sir John was the fifth member of the house of commons who had died since the general election of last fall.

MAJOR FRED R. DRAKE.

EASTON, Pa., July 17.—(AP)—Major Fred R. Drake, former president of the National Wholesale Grocers' Association, died at his home here today after a long illness. He was 67 and is survived by his widow, a son, a daughter and three sisters.

CABIN CRUISER BURNS, PASSENGERS RESCUED.

MONMOUTH BEACH, N. J., July 17.—(AP)—The cabin cruiser Joannah, owned by Joannah Tanager, of New York City, caught fire, three miles out in the Atlantic today and sank. Her passengers were removed by nearby boats to the rescue. Coast guard surf boats arrived after she had been abandoned, causing C. A. Osborne said he believed the passengers had been taken to New York. The cruiser was of 17 gross tons and 42 feet long.

THEORIES ARE STUDIED BY REYNOLDS PROBER.

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., July 17.—(AP)—Working on the announced theory that Smith Reynolds, young heir to millions, who was fatally shot here July 6, did not die by his own hand, Sheriff Truman Scott today indicated his investigation had made no great progress.

"There's nothing new today," he said in reply to an inquiry. The sheriff said he had received scores of letters from all parts of the country offering suggestions with regard to the fatal shooting of young Reynolds, which occurred on the sleeping porch of the palatial family home, to which he had brought Libby Holman, actress, as his bride a few weeks before.

Most of the letters appeared to have been written by cranks, he said, but some of them advanced theories which he deemed worth considering.

An entertainment will be sponsored at the Lee Street school at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night by the veterans' relief committee. It was announced. No admission will be charged, but donations will be received to be forwarded to the ex-soldiers in Washington, D. C.

Board of education of Atlanta will sit as jury Tuesday night at the trial of W. B. Kimball, teacher at Boys' High school, and Odessa Barker, teacher at the Croftman negro school. Both have been charged with incompetency, which they deny. They will be defended by attorneys.

Mercer Bear Club, composed of the younger alumni of the Mercer university, will meet at a luncheon at 12:15 o'clock today at the Nunnally tea room, in the Grand theater building.

Receiving no serious cases Sunday, Grady hospital treated many suffering from small injuries. Mary Hitchcock, 9, of 11 Francis place, was knocked unconscious when she fell from a swing. She was treated for a small laceration of the head and dismissed. Edna Sorens, 8, of 21 Home street, suffered a fractured arm when she fell from a swing.

Burglars entered Murray's pharmacy, 110 North Highland avenue, at 2 o'clock Sunday morning through the skylight and obtained a large amount of cigars, cigarettes and perfume. It was reported to police.

Ambulance of C. M. Pasley, of Thomaston, was damaged Sunday when it crashed into a car driven by W. T. Pruitt, of 1870 Dixie street, at Spring and Marietta, according to reports. Pasley was bringing H. J. Pasley to the Crawford W. Long hospital for an emergency operation, and ran over a red light. It was said. Pruitt's machine was knocked into a parked car at the light, and all three were damaged. No one was hurt.

Herbert Kimsey, Tech High school graduate, and now connected with the National Air Transport Company of Chicago, has donated to the aeronautical department of his alma mater a fully equipped and air-worthy airplane for use in study at the school. It was announced.

W. E. Evans Chambers, survey expert, will study the motor transport system of the city of Atlanta in the near future with a view to reducing the cost of maintenance and operation of the 1,000 cars. The annual expenditures at present totals approximately $300,000.

Business of importance will be transacted, it was announced, at the meeting Maple Grove No. 86, Supreme Forest Circle, which will be held at 8 o'clock Thursday at the Masonic temple, West End.

W. C. T. U. IS UNCERTAIN ON WHOM TO SUPPORT

BY SAM KNOTT, EVANSTON, Ill., July 17.—(UP)—The Women's Christian Temperance Union, for years a power in politics, is in a dilemma over whom, if anybody, to support for president of the United States in the coming election.

Flatly opposed to the democratic party's platform and its nominee, and disatisfied with the "straddle" prohibition plank of the republicans, the national W. C. T. U. issued a statement at its headquarters tonight indicating the organization was "stranded" in its efforts to decide what part it shall take this year in national politics.

The consensus of W. C. T. U. leaders in communications to national headquarters at Evanston is that neither the republican nor democratic party plank offers a solution to the liquor problem. The organization stated after taking a national poll of its membership.

That the W. C. T. U. was unwilling to accept either of the major party platforms has been known since the party conventions in Chicago.

For a while, it appeared that the union, claiming to control millions of votes, would join with other dry organizations in an effort to draft Senator William E. Borah as a third party candidate for president.

The W. C. T. U. has not, however, shown any inclination thus far to join wholeheartedly in a third party movement of any kind and has assumed an attitude of "watchful waiting."

GEORGIA SHOWS GAIN IN DIVORCES, LOSS IN MARRIAGES

While the depression in business has affected the marriage and divorce business of the United States to cause decreases in both from 1929 to 1931, Georgia continued to show an increase in divorces granted with a decrease in marriages.

The decrease in marriages in Georgia from 1930 to 1931 was 6.6 per cent, while the increase in divorces for the same period was 0.3 per cent. There were 28,321 marriages in the state in 1931, against 30,335 in 1930.

During the same period there were 2,346 divorces in 1931, against 2,338 in 1930, or an increase of only eight divorces.

The decrease in marriages in the United States was 6.1 per cent in 1931 over 1930.

BACK-TO-FARM MOVE IS NOT FOR UNTRAINED

Savannah Secretary Says Clerks Can Not Succeed As Planters.

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 17.—Miss Eloise Cleveland, secretary of the Savannah Welfare Society, said today that the "back-to-the-farm" movement for the unemployed here returned home. Miss Cleveland says the conference was intensely interesting but it was concluded that there could be little success in the hope of success, says Miss Cleveland. An ex-clerk or former bookkeeper or city resident who has not had experience on a farm would be as great a liability in his new surroundings as he would be in the city and out of work. Where persons can be found who have lived and worked on farms in former years and who want to go back, there might be some good reason for sending them, says the investigator, Mrs. Valmore Leber, Mrs. Fred Wessels and other family welfare workers who made the trip with Miss Cleveland agree with her view of the situation.

CEDARTOWN COMPANY LEAVES FOR CAMP

CEDARTOWN, Ga., July 17.—Company K, 122nd infantry, Georgia national guard, Cedartown unit, left for Fort McPherson, Ala., Sunday, for a two-week encampment. The entire company of 64 men and two officers will be on the encampment, only one officer of the entire personnel finding it impossible to go. Those making the trip are: Captain Phil H. Brewster, First Lieutenant Arthur A. Adams, First Sergeant Cecil J. Holland, Sergeants Homer J. Burson, Jesse A. Davis, John H. Duke, Major C. Garmon, Cecil H. Hendricks, Virgil E. Howard, Glenn Knighten and Otis C. Tuckett. Corporals Clyde H. Adams, Hugh A. Cleveland, Orville J. Pace, Hunter T. Roberson and Roy E. Underwood. Privates First Class James E. Adkins, Herbert R. WESTBERRY APPEALS FROM MURDER VERDICT

VALDOSTA, Ga., July 17.—It is expected that efforts will be made next week to get bond for Austin Westberry, who was granted a new trial by the supreme court Thursday upon his appeal from conviction of the murder of W. H. Browning near this city August 21, 1930. Westberry, after being given a life sentence, appealed for a new trial, which was granted, this being the second supreme court reversal in convictions for the Browning double tragedy. Allen Westberry was convicted and sentenced to death and his case was reversed in April after he was released on bond. Homer Padgett is under a life sentence in the same case, and his appeal is pending before the supreme court. Padgett and Austin Westberry made confessions which they afterward repudiated, declaring that the admissions they made were secured by officers through "third degree" methods. T. O. Sturdivant, now chief of police of Atlanta, and "Red" Foster, recently slain by bandits in Atlanta, worked on the Browning case in connection with local police officers. Assistant Solicitor Ed Stevens, of the Fulton county legal staff, assisted in the prosecution of the three men, while there was an array of 11 attorneys for the defense, including both Valdosta and Bradenton talent. J. B. Coneland, O. H. Dukes and E. K. Wilcox, all of this city, were leading defense attorneys.

CENTRAL OF GEORGIA CLERKS TO PICNIC

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 17.—(P)—A thousand visitors from Georgia, Florida, Tennessee and Alabama are expected for the annual picnic of the Central of Georgia railway clerks' organization, to be held at Savannah Beach Monday, August 1. Most of the visitors will arrive the day before. The picnic will be featured by a military demonstration to be staged by the eighth infantry from Fort Screven. Exhibitions of rifle and machine gun and one-pounders will be given by the soldiers. The destruction of a raft filled with explosives to be anchored well off shore will be included in the program. Captain Claude Mitchell Adams will be in charge of the demonstration.

PARKER TO RETURN TO DISTRICT TODAY

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 17.—Homer G. Parker, congressman from the first district, expected to return to the district tomorrow. His coming is going to put ginger in the race for congress. His opponents, Hugh Peterson Jr., of Montgomery county, and Albert L. Cobb, of Savannah, have been busy going over the district for the past several weeks. Congressman Parker will cover every county in the district.

Sheep Stealing.
VALDOSTA, Ga., July 17.—After an epidemic of cattle stealing, farmers are reporting the theft of many sheep at this time. The Blanton Company, in the eastern section of Lowndes county, extensively engaged in livestock raising, recently lost a large number of beef cattle, and is now offering a reward for the capture of the persons stealing a large number of sheep from the range.

Thomas Canning.
THOMASVILLE, Ga., July 17.—More cans and jars of fruits and vegetables, jellies and preserves have gone on shelves in Thomas county pantries this summer than ever in the history of the county.

Valdosta Nut Crops
VALDOSTA, Ga., July 17.—With one of south Georgia's largest peanut crops rapidly maturing, the shelling plants in Valdosta are preparing to open for the season and will give employment to several hundred persons. Opening of the shelling plants will keep the employment situation here fairly well balanced, the plant shipments having come to virtually the end of the season.

COMMUNITY CANNING OPENS AT CEDARTOWN
CEDARTOWN, Ga., July 17.—The Cedartown community canning plant went into operation here Saturday under the direction of Miss Nell Woodward. The purpose of this plant is to help cope with the unemployment situation, to save fruits and vegetables and to give a source of food for the unfortunate this winter.

WATSON ESTATE TAXED
AT VALUE OF $98,546
THOMASVILLE, Ga., July 17.—The arbitrators named to assess state and Thomas county taxes against the much-disputed $400,000 A. M. Watson estate have valued the assessable property at $98,546. Money, notes and accounts were assessed at $53,296 and $15,220 was assessed against the real estate holdings of the estate here. These assessments are final, but have reference to taxes for 1932 only, and have no effect on claims for back taxes. It is generally understood that both the city of Thomasville and Thomas county will likely take action looking to collection of taxes for several previous years on property that it is claimed was never returned for taxation.

SAVANNAH SOLDIERS ENTRAIN FOR CAMP
SAVANNAH, Ga., July 17.—(P)—The 118th field artillery, more particularly known as "Savannah's Own," left this morning in two trains for Camp Jackson, S. C., near Columbia, for two weeks' training. Colonel Sheffall B. Coleman is in command. The first train, leaving by Southern railway, took the second battalion commanded by Major Charles R. Peterson, while Captain C. H. Claghorn was train commander of the consignment aboard the second train over the Seaboard Air Line.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING
PALMETTO BARN RAZED
PALMETTO, Ga., July 17.—A large barn on the farm of J. H. Ballard, president of the Farmers' Bank of Palmetto, was destroyed by fire near here Sunday afternoon. The barn was struck by a bolt of lightning and all contents, including 27 bales of cotton, 100 bushels of corn, and 2000 bundles of fodder, were consumed in the flames.

State Deaths And Funerals

JAMES R. DEKLY.
THOMASVILLE, Ga., July 17.—Funeral services were held in Thomasville Saturday afternoon for James Robert Dekly, born and bred here, who died at his Tampa, Fla., home Thursday after a lingering illness. Services were conducted from the home of Mrs. Ethel Silva, sister of the deceased, by Rev. Osmond F. Cook, the presiding elder of the Methodist church in this district, and Rev. Robt. White, rector of St. Thomas Episcopal church here. Interment was in Laurel Hill cemetery.

W. A. COLLINS.
VALDOSTA, Ga., July 17.—Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon for W. A. Collins, a well-known resident of the Barretts section of Lowndes county, whose death occurred yesterday at his home. The services were conducted by Elder J. L. Harlow of Valdosta, Primitive Baptist, of which denomination the deceased was a consistent member and the interment was at Oak Grove church cemetery, northeast of Valdosta.

The deceased was 72 years of age and a native of Jasper, Fla. He had made his home in Lowndes county for the greater part of his life.

SAVANNAH WEIGHER TAKES LIFE WITH GUN

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 17.—Melvin Ehrlich, well-known Savannahian who shot and killed himself Saturday, was buried today from his home on Anderson street. Mr. Ehrlich had been despondent for some time. He was a city weigher of coal and he killed himself at the city scales on West Boundary street.

It was a coincidence that Mr. Ehrlich took his life in the same place that a man named Mendel killed himself about two years ago. Mr. Ehrlich succeeded Mr. Mendel as city weigher.

Among the survivors are the mother, Mrs. Henrietta Ehrlich, Savannah; Albert Ehrlich, of Savannah, and Ben Ehrlich, of Atlanta, brothers. Ben and Louis Ehrlich, of Atlanta, are his nephews. Deceased was a native of Bainbridge, where he was born April 9, 1870. Albert Ehrlich, one of his brothers, is state secretary of the T. P. A.

MEDICAL LECTURES END AT MILLEDGEVILLE
MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., July 17.—A medical lecture course, given under the auspices of the Baldwin County Medical Association through the co-operation of physicians from Emory University and the medical department of the University of Georgia, was concluded here Friday. A number of physicians from all adjoining territories came here during the week to hear the lectures, which included lectures and round table discussions on the following subjects: "Physical Diagnosis," "Diseases of Children," "Diseases of the Kidney," "Syphilis" and "Diseases of the Chest." Doctors on the program during the week were Dr. J. W. Charleston, Dr. W. A. Mulhern, Dr. C. W. Strickler, Dr. J. C. Bingham and Dr. Stewart Roberts.

No More Free Rides For Valdosta's Sick

VALDOSTA, Ga., July 17.—The sick and the injured in this city and section will no longer ride free in ambulances en route to hospitals. For some years it has been the practice, not to make charges for this service, but owing to general depression it was stated this week that hereafter a reasonable charge would be required for all ambulance service.

ROOSEVELT THANKS SAVANNAH LODGE

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 17.—The local lodge Loyal Order of Moose, is one of the first organizations in the country to receive a message from Franklin D. Roosevelt, in which he expresses his gratitude for a message of congratulation upon his nomination. His letter was as follows: "I am very grateful for the message sent by you and other friends, and happy to know that Savannah lodge Loyal Order of Moose, is ready for active work. Even now it is not too soon to start a militant campaign."

SAVANNAH WOMAN SAVED FROM RIVER

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 17.—(P)—Mrs. Ella Floethman, 75 years old, was pulled out of the Savannah river at the foot of West Broad street last night this morning by J. W. Atkins, chief engineer of the Savannah Electric & Power Company, and Lindsey Jones, negro. Atkins dived into the river after the aged woman. The woman said she jumped into the river because she was despondent. She was not seriously affected physically by her experience and was taken home.

ATLANTAN RECOVERS FROM SNAKE'S BITE

BROOKLYN, Ga., July 17.—Frank Warnock, of Atlanta, has just about recovered from the effects of a bite of a moccasin on Thursday. He has suffered little inconvenience from the reptile's attack because of the prompt and efficient treatment he received. Warnock is here on a visit to his mother, Mrs. Holcombe Warnock, Thursday he and his brother, Donnie went fishing in the Ogeechee river. The Atlanta man had his hand in the water as he and his brother were in a boat. The bait was too tempting for the moccasin to resist. He bit Warnock on the finger.

Donnie got busy with first aid. He split the finger open with his knife so that it bled profusely and then it was bandaged. The bitten young man was brought to Brooklyn for treatment. A physician dressed the wound and the finger is now doing nicely.

85 MILLION PEOPLE will see this..

WHY will this advertisement appear in more than 1,800 newspapers, reaching over 85,000,000 readers?

BECAUSE we want every smoker throughout the length and the breadth of this country to know that Chesterfield cigarettes are milder . . .

The tobaccos are the mildest that money can buy. Ripened and sweetened in the sunshine . . . cured by the farmer . . . then aged for two years in wooden hogheads.

We want to tell every smoker from coast to coast that Chesterfield cigarettes taste better . . .

Chesterfield's way of blending and cross-blending fine Turkish and Domestic tobaccos brings out better flavor and aroma.

We want every man and woman smoker to know this: Chesterfield cigarettes are pure—just as pure as science can make them—just as pure as the water you drink.

We want every one to know that you can depend on a LIGGETT & MYERS product.

Wherever you buy Chesterfields, you get them just as fresh as if you came by our factory door.

All Candidates Face Dry Poll
By Mayor Key Before Primary

Mayor James L. Key, whose denunciation of the prohibition law while in Paris with a party of American mayors a year ago led to an unsuccessful effort to recall him, promised his non-denominational Bible class here Sunday morning a "prohibition roll call of all candidates for democratic nomination in Georgia before the primary in September."

Mayor Key last Sunday called for a showdown on prohibition from all candidates for democratic nomination in Georgia, declaring that he would "have plenty to say" about those who came out openly on the repeal issue and "plenty more to say about those who didn't."

The mayor indicated that he was not entirely satisfied with the response since his challenge last week, but considered that the candidates were entitled to more time in which to make their positions clear.

"I hope all aspirants for public trust this year will realize that this is no time for hot air," the mayor asserted. "The people are deeply concerned over this situation and will not tolerate a politician who tries to hang onto the shirt-tails of the drys and at the same time make goo-goo eyes at the wets."

"When honest men are walking the streets looking in vain for a chance to earn a honest dollar while bootleggers and racketeers are getting rich on illicit liquor traffic, the people of this country want something done about it," Mayor Key declared. "No man who lacks the mind and heart to have deep and definite convictions on this subject, or having convictions lacks the courage to declare them, has any right to ask for a place of public honor and public trust," the mayor asserted.

MORTUARYMIGNON MORRIS.

Last rites of Mignon Morris, 2 years old, who was killed in an automobile accident near Thomson, Ga., Saturday, will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the Holy Trinity Episcopal church. The Rev. Charles Holding will officiate. Interment will be in Decatur cemetery. She is survived by her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Jack C. Morris, of Decatur; one brother, Jack C. Morris Jr., and two sisters, Misses Karen and Lisa Morris. A. S. Turner is in charge of the funeral.

HIRAN BENNETT KING.

Funeral services for Hiran Bennett King, 60, who died Sunday at the residence at 355 Woodward avenue, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Poplar Spring Baptist church. The Rev. L. B. Smith will officiate. Interment will be in the churchyard. He is survived by one son, Charlie B. King, and three daughters, Mrs. Tobe Blanks, Mrs. H. E. Walker and Mrs. G. M. Bowles.

MRS. MORGAN D. WOOD.

Mrs. Morgan D. Wood died Sunday night at her residence at 1054 Boulevard drive, following an extended illness. Mr. Wood is the owner of the Morgan Wood and Allen Grocery store. Besides her husband, she is survived by a son, Morgan D. Wood Jr., and a sister, Mrs. Ashton Holland, of Atlanta. Funeral arrangements will be announced by H. M. Patterson & Son.

MRS. E. W. HUGHES.

The body of Mrs. E. W. Hughes, 30, of 214 West Kirby street, College Park, who died Saturday at a private hospital, will be taken at 12:25 o'clock this morning to Augusta, her former home, for funeral services and interment. Her husband, three daughters, two sons and her mother survive. H. M. Patterson & Son are in charge.

MRS. W. T. SARGENT.

Funeral services for Mrs. W. T. Sargent, of 102 Pearl street, who died Saturday night at the residence, will be held at 11 o'clock this morning at the Hall Creek Baptist church, with the Rev. W. R. Boyd officiating. Interment will be in the churchyard.

Mysterious Death.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 17.—(AP)—An unidentified white man, who told officers he was walking to Sparta, Tenn., was stricken with a sudden illness here today and died shortly afterwards. Officers failed to obtain his name. He appeared to be about 50 years old; had thin, white hair; and his right arm had been amputated near the shoulder.

W. L. O'DWYER, NOTED RATE EXPERT, DEAD

An illness of three weeks ended in the death Sunday morning of W. L. O'Dwyer, 61, office chief of the Southern Freight Association, at a private hospital. He resided at 185 Westminster drive.

Widely known over the south, Mr. O'Dwyer had spent his entire professional career in connection with railroad work, was for 16 years traffic manager of the Gulf, Mobile & Northern railway, and resided in Mobile, where he was well known. Though he had resided in Atlanta on several different occasions, he had lived here continuously for the last 14 years, during which time he was associated with the Southern Freight Association. He had been connected with the Southern Railway, the Seaboard Air Line, and others earlier in his career. He resided for a time in Richmond, Va., his birthplace, and Jacksonville, Fla.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at the Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son, and interment will be in West View cemetery. Other arrangements will be announced. He was a member of the Catholic church. Surviving are his wife; three sons, Carroll K. E. Kendall, and R. Q. O'Dwyer, of Atlanta, and his mother, Mrs. Mary A. O'Dwyer, of Washington, D. C.

OVERLOADED TRUCK IS NABBED IN DEKALB

A two and one-half-ton truck carrying a load of fifteen and one-half tons, and allegedly speeding at the rate of 52 miles an hour, was apprehended Sunday in DeKalb county by county officers acting under the direction of Robert N. Springfield, secretary of the Georgia public service commission. It was reported. The driver of the truck, L. H. Boykin, and his assistant, S. A. Kersey, were arrested and will be prosecuted.

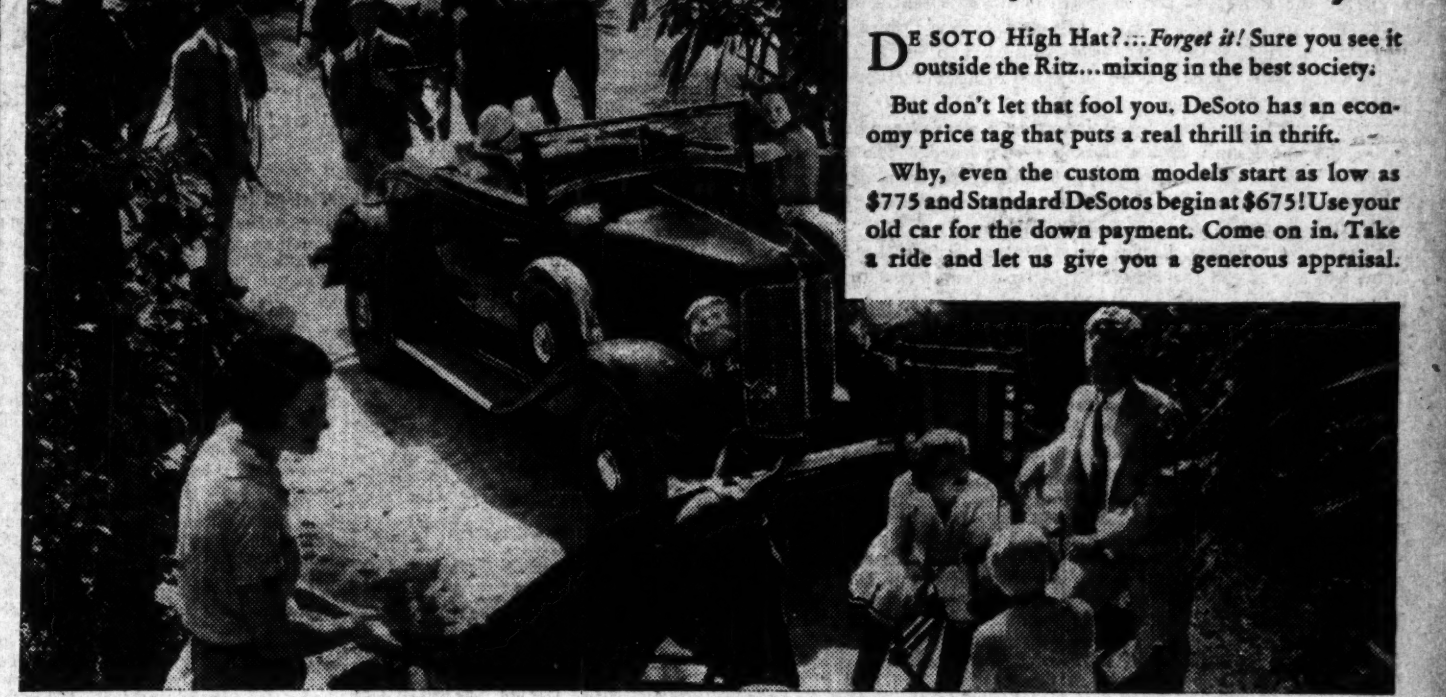

According to James A. Perry, chairman of the Georgia public service commission, the truck, which was one of the Goggin Truck Line, of Clinton, N. C., was coming toward Atlanta when it broke down near Clarksville. It was noted that the machine was overloaded and when it entered DeKalb county was stopped by Sheriff Jake Hall and his officers. The load weighed 30,860 pounds, nearly twice as much as the law allows. Efforts are being made all over the state to stop the overloading of trucks. Chairman Perry said, "Though this is not the first time drivers of overloaded trucks have been arrested, it is seldom that one machine carries such a heavy load," he asserted. "Heavy damage is done to the highways by such overloading."

ACCUSED FARMER HELD ON CHARGE OF MURDER

FERRISDAY, La., July 17.—(UP)—Faced with the death-bed accusation of Fred Wilson, 52-year-old construction superintendent, who was fatally shot from ambush, Lovey Fairbanks, 65, a stock farmer, was held here tonight on a charge of murder. Shortly before he died of three shotgun wounds inflicted as he entered his home Friday night, Wilson named the farmer as the man who fired the shots. Wilson told authorities Fairbanks believed he was implicated in the slaying of the farmer's son by a woman at Wildsville several weeks ago and enmity over the youth's death resulted in the ambush shooting.

The contestants winning the second, third, fourth and fifth prizes submitted the same number of acceptable words and mutually agreed to a division of the prizes.

To any registered contestant who participated in working the second series of the tie-breaking cartoons, upon request remitting three cents postage, will be mailed a list of the accepted words submitted by the winner of the first prize.

FROM THE MOVIE TITLE EDITOR

The close of the Movie Title contest brings mixed emotions to the Movie Title Editor. He is glad for those who have won and equally sorry for those who have lost. Anybody can be a good winner, yet few of us can be good losers. Few people know the name of the general who won at Waterloo, yet all of us know the name of Napoleon, the loser. But there is one sure thing in this game of life, good sportsmanship will always win out. It may have a temporary setback, but when the final score is counted, good sportsmanship will always be the winner. He who fights and loses, and has fought his best, has lost nothing in losing.

In conducting the Movie Title contest, The Atlanta Constitution has made every effort to give each and every contestant the fullest information and details in fact, everything possible was done to enable every contestant to know what he or she was up against, at all times.

In judging the word-building cartoons, The Constitution secured the services of two university graduates, one an English teacher and the other a dictionary word expert. Every effort was made by them to give the fairest interpretations of all words submitted, using Webster's New International Dictionary as authority. Any ruling made by them on any particular word or words, applied to every set of answers. The results as published above are final.

The Awards will be mailed out to the Winners in the next few days.

IN CLOSING WE WANT TO EXPRESS OUR APPRECIATION TO EVERY CONTESTANT FOR THE KEEN INTEREST AND EFFORT THEY HAVE MADE, ALL OF WHOM HAVE DISPLAYED A NOBLE SENSE OF GOOD SPORTSMANSHIP.

Mahaffey Holds Tigers to Seven Hits; Stone Hits for Circuit.

DETROIT, July 17.—(AP)—Jimmy Foxx blasted out home runs Nos. 37 and 38 today and the Philadelphia Athletics defeated the Tigers, 4 to 3, in a one-game series.

in the run-making department. After the catcher had doubled twice without figuring in the scoring, he singled in the eighth to drive in the two runs which tied and then won the game. He gave Heving a perfect day at bat.

Mahaffey held the tigers to seven hits, one of them a homer run by Johnny Stone in the first inning and another a triple by the same batter.

DETENTION AT ALL-AMERICAN BASEBALL TEAM

GEORGE MERITS STERLING HONOR AS SOPHOMORE

Lloyd, Auburn, Chosen; Spradling, Parks Given Honorable Mention.

By Jack Troy.

The so-called lowly sophomore comes in for a lot of abuse on the average college campus; he is generally considered less than one step ahead of the freshman who, like the amoeba, is the one-celled animal of college life, and he is usually thought too immature to be entrusted with a varsity position on an athletic team. But there are exceptions to every rule, and George Meritt, of Georgia Tech., is one of them. He is a star athlete of Oglethorpe University.

Because of George Meritt, Mr. Average Sophomore next September can tell Mr. Haughty Senior just where to get off—and stay. Yes, sir, Mr. Charles George, Brunswick, Ga., boy, is the Moose who has led the struggling second-year gent out of the wilderness.

For he has been named on the All-American baseball team annually selected by College Humor, the sports learned yesterday, it is THE college All-American, the blue book of the pluck-for boys.

This is no honor for exclamations, however, for George, sophomore or not, earned the position by a wide margin. He was considered the greatest college outfielder in the south. But more about George later.

The selections are usually confined to seniors and seldom even to juniors make the grade.

LOYD PLACES

Harry Lloyd, Auburn's great senior first baseman, placed on the first team. All-Dixie league first-sacker two years hand-running, Lloyd received All-American recognition by virtue of his brilliant play-around play.

Aiken, of Alabama, and Berger, of Maryland, infielders, are the other southerners on the first team. That, as anyone can see, is a fine representation of the land of cotton.

Fact is the south landed more positions than any other section of the country, which speaks pretty well in itself for the Dixie league.

Such players as Fitzgerald, of Washington and Lee, an outfielder; Combs, of Duke, a pitcher, and Keris, of Kentucky Wesleyan, a pitcher, were named, in addition to the Dixie league players.

THREE LAST YEAR.

Last year three Dixie league players made the team. They were Claude Herrin, of Oglethorpe, who received the highest honor in American college baseball.

The defunct Dixie league numbered among its teams more than a few outstanding players. It attracted some of the best of the Dixie players.

There is a whispering campaign afoot to the effect that the Dixie league is still having trouble in the Southern conference. If it is it will be a boon to the college game in the south. An organized league is seen in the only league in the south to be below the Smith and Weson line.

SOME PROSPECT.

About Charles George, Les Gage, who annually leads the American team for College Humor, says: "You'll want to hear about Charles George, of Oglethorpe. I simply cannot keep him out of our outfield. He is a new comer, in his first season of varsity ball, and is only 19 years old. This fellow pulled up an average of .400, with 24 hits for a total of 30 bases. His work in left field was perfect. Won't be a prospect with two more years of experience and age?"

GREAT RECORD.

"In the first place, he clouted the ball at a 400 clip. But, here's a record. The Tigers' first baseman accepted 385 chances, many difficult, without an error. Considering every department of play, Harry Lloyd was the most able player on the championship Auburn club.

"But Parks, of Georgia, is a sensational second baseman, consistent

CHICAGO CUBS AND PITTSBURGH GIANTS

Take Double-Header Over Giants by Scores of 3-1, 8-2.

CHICAGO, July 17.—(AP)—The second-place Chicago Cubs gained a full game on the Pittsburgh Pirates today by taking a double header with the New York Giants. The Cubs won the first by a score of 3 to 1, and the nightcap 8 to 2. A crowd of 40,000 watched the contests.

Pat Malone hurled the first game for the Cubs, allowed only six hits, walked none, and never gave the Giants a chance. Waite Hoyt, pitching for the Giants, was out of the game after two innings when he was hit by a line drive from the Cubs.

Bill Herman started the trouble for Hoyt by batting out a two-base hit back of second base. English singled and Hogan dropped Joe Moore's perfect throw to the plate. Herman scored and English went all the way to third. Cuyler beat out a bouncer to verge to score English.

Moore's sixteenth inning in both the 100 and 200-meters was more than even an all-star cast could face. In addition to exceptional speed he had a much more powerful 100-yard dash to be held in check. His starting momentum was terrific and the extra burst of speed he turned on at the 50-yard mark opened the gap much too wide for any one to close it without using a motorcycle.

His running form may not be flawless, as Coach Eastman pointed out, but he has shown sheer power and raw speed to sweep aside any slight discrepancies in form.

The United States has no indigene to face in the strength of its final selections on track and field. Metcalf, Tolson and Simpson in the sprints, with Wykoff in reserve. Carr and Eastman for the 400, Gray and Hallows for the 800 and 1,500, made up a brilliant cast in which Metcalf and Carr especially will be hard to run.

Ben Eastman has been worked at top speed over too long a stretch, but there is still some in him. He is a fast runner and a westerner could handle Carr's finishing speed down the closing 50 yards.

Lawson Robertson and his staff will be the best in the world to chance to rest and relax and possibly regain his earlier record-breaking pace. If he does, the Carr-Eastman duo will be one of the Olympic favorites and it will take a new world's record on the part of some invading runner to crowd either out.

The smooth looking runner, the track has never known. He had to break a world's record to catch Carr, and he did it. He is a fast runner and a westerner could handle Carr's finishing speed down the closing 50 yards.

SYNOPSIS. Tony Brooks was 19 when her father and mother were killed in an automobile accident at Centerville, her home town. She had intended to study art but her father had intended to see that she got a job in Madame Simone's dress shop in New York. Her father's death brought her dismissal on the same day that Leslie (Lee) Moran, a model, was discharged because she was too fat. Tony shared her third-floor back room at Mrs. Higgins' with her. Before Tony got a job at an art gallery, Lee became a taxi dancer at El Tango, where she met Adam Leonard, whom she called Uncle Lenny. He was a kindly looking man between 50 and 60. Tony Stewart, a young girl in love with Lee, asked her to go to Mrs. Higgins. Tony fell in love with him at once and tried to bring herself to tell Lee. Lee had insisted that Tony go out for an evening with Leonard and an out-of-town friend, Donald Kemp. As they were leaving a night club, Leonard's wife saw them and made a scene. Leonard had been unhappily married and Kemp, a lawyer, arranged for Mrs. Leonard to get a divorce. Lee astonished Tony later, announcing that she was going to pose as the correspondent and expected to receive $5,000. She moved to an apartment. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

INSTALLMENT XV.

Kemp's chill scorn, his morbid manner of rehearsing her own conduct of the marital state, flailed her into quick if ungracious acceptance. She knew that if Kemp decided so, the figure Leonard set was final. As to Lee's insistence that she assume the role of the disturber in this unhealthy domestic drama, Tony knew at once Kemp was not deceived. Her recognized motivations as a physician does the symptoms of a well-established disease. He knew it was cupid and not affection that moved Lee to place herself beside Adam Leonard. Tony voluntarily subjected herself to a culpability she did not merit. Whether she despised Lee or was indifferent to her conduct in the affair Tony could not be sure. He advised Leonard to see Lee only in his presence, for in the presence of other lawyers associated with the case.

This was precisely to Lee's liking. It enabled her to spend evenings with Tony, since it was no longer necessary for her to taxi dance at El Tango. Her expenses were being cared for, and handsomely.

"Tony's hurt," Lee complained to Tony. "He's asked me every night to bring you with me but you give me nothing except the big turndown. What's the idea? Can't you bear the boy friend?"

Tony busied herself arranging articles on the night table. There were times when the mention of Tom Stewart's name brought such a suffocation of pain to her heart that she could not control its reflex in her face.

"Can I bear him? I think he's a perfect—no, not darling, mustn't say darling—" a perfect ace. It's just that I've been terribly busy at the galleries and the nights I'm not too tired to go out, and I've been seeing Donald Kemp."

"Hurrah for you," Lee was properly convinced. "I'll carry your excuse to Tom. And don't think I blame you for preferring Don Kemp and the Rita to us. I'm pretty sick of the dollar table d'hôte circuit myself. Tom's not such a snappy company. He's kind of glum lately. I don't know what's come over him. No pep. I hope he gets an assignment out of town soon and takes his glooms along with him."

Tony hit her tongue to keep it from tripping the truth: Change with me then! Let me go with Tom to the places you feel are cheap. They can't be cheap with Tom there. They're heaven. I'll go with him, no matter where, and find—

That evening Tony met Tom as she went downstairs to join Donald Kemp. Tom was waiting in the hall. No was Kemp.

"Good evening, Tony."

"Good evening, Tony."

They had spoken in chorus. Tony reached out her hand, simultaneously, Tom extended his. Their hands met clasped, clung. Their eyes were hungry for the other. Time stood still. Space was an infinity of longing.

"Ready, Miss Brooks?" Oh, then they were not alone, Tony and Tom in this infinity. Infinity had dropped away, leaving them to the aloneness of fulfillment. Tony struggled. Drew back with a sharp intake of breath. Escaped, trembling, from a phantom Eden.

"Ready," she said. "Mr. Kemp, this is Mr. Stewart."

Donald Kemp was rather stiff about the introduction. Tony noticed he gave the other man a keen, a searching inspection. She murmured a hasty good night to the tall lean figure worrying the brim of a hat by the newel post. Afterward it occurred to both of them that they had been Tom and Tony to each other for the first time.

"I have news I hope will be pleasing to you," Donald Kemp said as he handed her into the taxi.

"News about Lee?" Tony was all eagerness.

"About yourself," Kemp lit a cigarette. The flare of the match threw his face into bold relief. He was handsome. Distinguished, too. His eyes were kind when they forgot command. Tony stared her hand away in the pocket of her coat. The feel of Tom's fingers still tingled along the nerves of her wrist.

Donald Kemp suggested Tony might like to dine in a French restaurant whether the discerning of palate went for sole meunier and crepes Suzette. Neither of these famous pieces de resistance Paris were known to Tony but they sounded fascinating. They would be filling for the good news Donald Kemp had to tell her.

The restaurant was small and exclusive and perfectly appointed. Nothing Kemp did ever was garish. His tastes, Tony decided, were perfect as a man's could be. His cultural requirements leaned toward the strong, the vital, the moving rather than toward the exquisite. Even his clothes reflected a certain vigor of selection—wine reds, black and white, the darkest of browns and blues, and always, immaculate white linen. He had an orderly mind. A trifling touch of self that Swift appreciated of the humorous, impatience for the ludicrous.

He could be meticulous about food, she discovered, when food loomed as a cardinal value, not a mere sop for appetite. She thought he made too much ceremony of ordering dinner. Later she knew the criticism was unjust. The dinner was a poem.

"I've saved the news to sweeten the coffee," he said, smiling across the table at her with that flashing eagerness of teeth that never failed to startle her. "I was afraid if I gave it to you with the hors d'oeuvre you might slight Lee's dedications and for that he would never forgive you."

She had forgotten there was to be news. The atmosphere of bodily well-being, the surging of Kemp's admiration for her, and lured Tony's curiosity to sleep. She saw he approved of this lapse, arguing as it did a subjugation of self that Swift admired.

"I'm on my toes," Tony was, figuratively speaking.

Kemp leaned forward. He said: "I want to tell you if I know you as well as I believe I do. Suppose it were given to you to make one wish, with an excellent possibility of fulfillment. What wish would you make? What was it she wanted most out of life at the present? Happiness, of course. Safety, content. How and when she found the greatest happiness? Tom. His wife. Little white cottage. Futility. She must not make futile wishes. Kemp had spoken of a possibility of fulfillment, she must consider, then, possibility.

Mount Berry Garden Lovers' Club Holds Flower Show at Berry School

MOUNT BERRY, Ga., July 17.—The Mount Berry Garden Lovers' Club held its flower show in Blackstone hall on the Martha Berry College campus Wednesday afternoon. The dark walls of the handsome dining hall, where the exhibit was held, enhanced the gay colors of the brilliant display of blossoms.

One hundred and sixty-five entries for prizes were received. Especially beautiful were exhibits of roses, gladioli, dahlias, and zinnias. Many beautiful gladioli were exhibited by Mrs. George S. Birch, though they were not entered for prizes.

The junior exhibit was noteworthy and was highly complimented. Interesting exhibits of flowers and vegetables grown by the children were shown.

Flowers arranged by the children and miniature gardens arranged by them were very much admired.

The sweepstakes prize was won by Mrs. H. Grady Hamrick. Second highest in number of points was Mrs. Fred F. Forth; third, Mrs. C. B. Keim; fourth, Mrs. David Reynolds; fifth, Mrs. F. C. Moon; sixth, Mrs. O. C. Egan.

In the junior department, sweepstakes was won by John Birch; second highest number of points Billy Dailley; third highest, Grady Hamrick Jr.

The judges were Dr. S. H. Cook, dean of the Martha Berry College; Mrs. Beula Bonner, private secretary to Dr. Martha Berry; and Mrs. Albert Littlejohn, of Rome.

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

By ELY CULBERTSON,

A Sound Inference

Grand Slam bids are a law unto themselves. The risk incident to bidding them, unless the hands can be laid down when the first lead is made, is very great, and control of all four suits should be assured before such a contract is undertaken. Control of the suits being certain, then the possibility of losing tricks to adversely held honors should be taken into account. In other words, a Grand Slam should not be bid unless certain of fulfillment in advance.

An interesting example of a Grand Slam safely bid in accordance with sound principles occurred in a recent Duplicate game, in which only one North and South pair reached the correct final declaration, which was, of course, a Grand Slam in spades. The hand and bidding were:

Atlanta Girls Play Important Part At Nakanawa

MAYLAND, Tenn., July 16.—The senior camp enrollment at Nakanawa camp includes Eleanor Peebles, Rosemary Zoll, Jane Kelley, Mary Kneale, Mary Malone, Mary Cary Maynard, Martha Gordy, Theresa Pope and Frances Austin, Atlanta. The competition in land and water sports is carried on by means of two divisions, Amazon and Valkyrie, to which the campers belong. Miss Zoll, Miss Gordy, Miss Austin, Miss Kelley, Miss Maynard and Miss Kneale are members of the Valkyrie division, which has the sturdy Viking legends for its background. Miss Pope, Miss Malone and Miss Peebles belong to the Amazon group, which cherishes Greek myths and Asiatic traditions.

An aquatic exhibition was given early in the season, and Jane Kelley was in the exhibition swimming, and Mary Kneale paddled in the canoeing formation. Last Saturday the water counselors directed a clever swimming meet, and the camp body was divided into four groups, the spades, the hearts, the diamonds and the clubs. Eleanor Peebles took part in the water-dodge ball and was in the flutter-board race. Mary Cary Maynard dived in one event and was a member of the life-saving team. To support her group, Martha Gordy entered in diving and played dodge ball. Mary Kneale was in the follow-the-leader swimming meet. Diving, dodge ball and the flutter-board race were the events that attracted Frances Austin.

A stunt in the wigwag, the camp meeting place, was a recent evening entertainment, and campers in the cabins grouped together and presented skits and plays. The Atlanta campers appeared in several of these. Mary Cary Maynard wrote and directed an unusual dialog, using Caesar's funeral for the historic background. Frances Austin was one of the main characters.

A one-act play, "The Ashateurs," was presented July 4, and Mary Cary Maynard was Jenkins, the butler, and Jane Kelley played the significant role of Henry Douglas, an aged businessman. Eleanor Peebles won a prize in a group of indoor games played one rainy day. Mary Malone, Rosemary Zoll and Mary Kneale are competing their qualifying for the lake privileges.

In the junior camp Mary Ann Dinsmore, Elsie Dickey, Dollie Abraham and Martha Zoll are the Atlanta girls attending. Mrs. J. R. Dinsmore and Mrs. Lula McMichael are connected with the counselor staff of the camps.

The Georgia group planned and put on the last vesper services. It was an inspiring program on the life of Jesus. Mary Malone read the Scripture lesson; Jane Kelley spoke on "Faith in God." Martha Brown, of Cartersville, Ga., gave a poem; Rosemary Zoll gave a talk on "Faith in Fellowship." Martha Gordy delivered the prayer. Frances Austin played two piano solos and accompanied the choir.

In the junior camp Mary Ann Dinsmore and Polly Abraham have passed their twelve trials, and all of the campers have finished the deep-water swimming tests. Mary Dinsmore took the part of Miss Cricket in a play given in the junior camp on Friday. She also did a tap dance at the pirates' ball Saturday. Martha Zoll and Elsie Dickey entered enthusiastically into the work for the divisions.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield:

Would you help me with a puzzling problem? I am deaf and getting deaf and my husband and children are terribly sensitive about it. They try in every way they can to keep me in the house, but I feel different about my condition, and to fool me about the way they regard my affliction, but all of their efforts are vain. I don't know what to do but to ask visitors find out that I am deaf—I see with my eyes (which, thank God, are still sharp) how they all suffer. I don't know what to do but to ask visitors find out that I am deaf—I see with my eyes (which, thank God, are still sharp) how they all suffer. I don't know what to do but to ask visitors find out that I am deaf—I see with my eyes (which, thank God, are still sharp) how they all suffer.

Answer:

My dear woman, isn't it possible that the thing you are reading is the life of your family and friends is but a reflection of the thoughts you are thinking and the fears you are fostering? I don't know what to do but to ask visitors find out that I am deaf—I see with my eyes (which, thank God, are still sharp) how they all suffer. The interior of the handsome home was elaborately decorated to form a floral background for the nuptial rites. The improvised altar extended across the west drawing room and flanking each side were large candelabra holding cathedral tapers, with white French wicker baskets filled with gladioli, arranged to form the white and green background. The center was starred with a white basket filled with gorgeous white peonies. The altar was covered with heavy white satin and outlining the edge was a tracery fern.

Preceding the entrance of the bride party, Mrs. Judson Gray and Thomas McLean rendered appropriate musical selections including: "Prelude," "Lohengrin," Wagner; "Orange Blossoms," Friml; "The Swan," Saint-Saens; "Kamenoi Ostrow," Rubinstein. Immediately before the ceremony Mrs. David LeRoy Stone, soprano, sang "I Love You Truly" (Cushman), and "Oh, Promise Me" (DeKoven).

The junior bridesmaids were little Misses Melrose Bell and Winnie Bell Lewis, gowned in pink and satin. They carried miniature old-fashioned bouquets of pink rose buds and lilies of the valley. The matron of honor, the mother of the bride, Mrs. Simon Bell Jr., wore lilies. The gown was fashioned of hand-embroidered lace posed over a taffeta slip of the same shade. She carried an arm bouquet of American Beauty roses, tied with red tulle.

The bride, whose loveliness is of the brunette type, wore a second empire period dress of flesh colored chiffon embroidered in pearls with flesh tinted rose point lace adorning the gown. Rose point lace outlined the skirt and train and was finished with a deep V in the back, and formed the full puffed sleeves, extending to the elbow. The skirt featured the built-in train and was finished with the waistline with a girde of pearls. The tulle veil was adjusted to her wavy hair with a cap of rose point lace. She wore white satin slippers and carried a bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley, showered with lilies of the valley. Her only jewelry was a necklace of diamonds worn by her grandmother when, as Miss Emma Chandler, she became the bride of the late Mr. B. Simon Sr., and she carried the real lace handkerchief, which her grandmother had carried at her wedding ceremony 50 years ago. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Simon Bell Jr. Serving the bridegroom as his best man was his brother, Edwin Dent Fulcher, of Augusta.

Following the ceremony Mr. Fulcher and his bride left on a motor trip to the mountains and upon their return they will reside in Augusta, Mr. Fulcher traveled in a gown of blue crepe, fashioned with long sleeves and a bolero jacket. Her close-fitting hat was of blue felt and her hair wool coat was collared with fur.

"We Kind of Wanted Somethin' Nice..."

I turned around in the furniture department on our fifth floor and there they stood... the sort of little old couple—but I've drawn their picture! She was the spokesman but looked to him for encouraging nods from time to time.

"You see, John and me didn't like to take that money Cousin Jerry left us, seein' we hadn't done no great deal for him, and what little nursin' I done during that last spell of his being a pleasure with him so patient and all... but Judge Armistead said we ought to take it... and John figured he'd always had a hankerin' for a chair he wasn't too fat for, and I guess it's silly of me wantin' one of them vanity dressers in my room all these years... so we come to Rich's because we kind of wanted somethin' nice..."

They went away happily, hand in hand, with my promise that the chair and vanity dresser would arrive at their home in a few days... the biggest, manliest chair on our floor and a vanity dresser that would do credit to the boudoir of a princess royal... because they had come to Rich's!

BRAZILIAN FORCES READY FOR ATTACK

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 17.—(AP) Federal forces continued to ring their positions around the state of Sao Paulo today, and Provisional President Getulio Vargas took a personal hand in the preparations against the Paulista rebels.

There were no military engagements, beyond a few reconnoitering brushes, and it was assumed the federal forces were planning to wait as long as possible for successful peace negotiations before beginning a big push.

Nine persons were aboard the missing ship when she took off at Santiago yesterday. Some feared she had crashed in the Andes.

BONDS MAINTAIN UPWARD TREND

BY VICTOR EUBANK.

NEW YORK, July 17.—(AP)—The bond market closed out its second week of price recovery yesterday and preparatory to the resumption of business tomorrow price levels for corporate securities have now been carried to their highest point since last June 8.

After an early setback, foreign governments recovered irregularly. The United States government group registered a number of gains, although these were partly tempered on Saturday when selling appeared in the Treasury 3-2-8s.

Notable among the week's advances were those scored by a number of the old first mortgage railroad bonds. In addition, second-grade bonds enjoyed a substantial rally.

Ability of the utilities to move quietly ahead was made doubly conspicuous because of the offering during the week of a total of more than $70,000,000 of new public utility notes and bonds. Moreover, the market was called upon to face considerable conjecture over the Wisconsin move in preventing certain operating units in that state from paying dividends on common stocks largely held by holding companies.

In the industrial group, striking gains were made by oil, pipe line, packing and some of the tobacco company issues.

Heavy selling appeared at times in some foreign government bonds, predicated partially, no doubt, on the tempest that grew out of the statement that negotiators at the Lausanne agreement on the Swiss debt had agreed to a gentleman's agreement regarding debt due to the United States. But this liquidation was absorbed in trading and the list staged an irregular recovery.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON RECOVERS EARLY LOSS

NEW ORLEANS, July 17.—(AP)—The cotton market was decidedly erratic and fluctuating during the past week, with periods both of activity and dullness. Prices developed a downward tendency during the first half of the week, but recovered promptly all of the loss in the second half.

The early decline was due to the generally fair weather which covered the entire belt and showed signs of persisting.

As a result of these favorable weather conditions prices declined fully $2 a bale from the recent high points. This decline was due not only to liquidation by longs and recent buyers but also to rather general selling by scalpers.

Around the middle of the week, the downward course of prices was checked by a less favorable weekly weather and crop summary by the government than had been looked for.

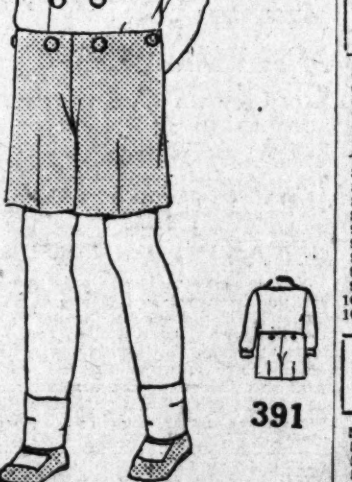

Later prices rallied, owing to the extremely high temperatures prevailing particularly in the eastern portion of the belt, which traders feared would do damage to the crop as plants were reported to be smothered as a result of the previous rains and in no condition to withstand a protracted drought accompanied by extreme hot weather.

The new crop is beginning to move in extreme south Texas and recent advices indicated that picking is in progress in the southern portion of that state.

The following shows the high, low and closing sales in the New Orleans futures market during the past week, compared with a year ago:

	High.	Low.	Close.	Year
July	5.78	5.52	5.76	9.07
Oct.	5.87	5.58	5.54	9.45
Dec.	6.01	5.74	5.98	9.68
Jan.	6.04	5.82	5.92	9.70
March	6.22	5.97	6.16	9.98

This little tailored suit has rather a sporty-air in its double-breasted styling.

The open neckline with rolled collar is comfortable as well as smart. The trousers button to the blouse.

Light navy blue cotton broadcloth makes the trousers. The blouse was a light blue shade, trimmed with white pearl buttons.

Style No. 391 is designed for sizes 4, 6, 8 and 10 years.

Size 4 requires 1 1/2 yards 35-inch for blouse with 3/4 yard 35-inch for pants.

You could easily make several suits in a single day. The cost is surprisingly small.

Green linen trousers with green and white striped linen blouse is a smart suggestion.

Popular Eating Place Always Busy

Interior view of Harvey's restaurant, 98 Luckie street. This is an eating place that travelers, as well as home folks, speak highly of and is a favorite place for congenial people to meet and entertain their Atlanta or out-of-town friends.

Six Floats Already Entered In Fun and Trade Festival

Splendid progress was made on the three-day Fun and Trade Festival preceding the regular Labor Day celebration during the past week and the movement was well received wherever it was presented.

The special feature will center around a colorful parade to be held on Saturday afternoon or night, September 3. This big street parade will be one that will be open to everyone who will carry American flags, colored ribbons, bunting or anything that will lend a touch of color.

The automobile division will be built up to number more than a thousand private cars and there will be no restrictions or stipulations other than that they carry some colorful decorations that will attract attention, as moving pictures and newsworthy features will be taken from different positions along the line of march.

There will be no expense of any kind for private cars and there will be no advertising charges. All money raised will go to pay band expenses and the comfort and convenience of the standing stand. All advertising cars and trucks will be accorded a place in the float line in the order in which they make entry.

The No. 1 float will be the one representing the Fraternal Order of the Maccabees, who made application the first day the parade was announced.

No. 2 will represent the Georgia Pure Milk Lovers, No. 3 float is entered by the Hawkins Electric Company and will present something unique in electrical effects.

No. 4 float will represent Harvey's restaurant on Luckie street and will be decorated with about a dozen pretty girls. Nos. 5 and 6 will represent the Zaban Storage Company and the decorations on these will consist of as many of the Confederate soldiers and ladies from the Old Ladies' Home as may wish to have a good time in this parade.

The arrangements committee, consisting of M. D. Gleason, L. O. Mosley and Marion Hawkins, will have some very pleasant reports of progress to make in the next few days and women will be asked to lend their aid after July 25, when headquarters will be opened in the Piedmont hotel.

SMART FOR COTTONS.

One of the dearest cotton frocks that one could wish for is sketched here today. It has all the snap and style of the present mode, is simple of construction and affords a delightful chance for contrast of color and fabric. We made it of the tiniest brown and white checked gingham and fashioned the intriguing collar of white pique, and with the lopsitching and perky buttons, well... you must really see for yourself.

Pattern 2379 may be ordered only in sizes 12 to 20 and 32 to 40. Size 16 requires 4 1/2 yards of 36-inch fabric and 1 yard contrasting. Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred), for each

Atlanta Serves Best 50-Cent Meal in Country, Harvey Says

The fame of Harvey's restaurant at 98 Luckie street is spreading far and wide. Harvey's restaurant, like others of the same name, is not just an ordinary restaurant, but one with a definite purpose of ever building up in the minds of the people that here is one restaurant where the meals are extra good for the small price they ask for them.

Several component factors enter into the running of a large successful restaurant, beginning with the careful buying and ending by thanking the pleased customers as they leave the cashier's desk. Harvey's is extra strong in its personal organization and this is why every day is a busy day at Harvey's.

All the food at Harvey's is bought in, prepared under the supervision of Samuel Dardarian, one of the Atlanta orphans in the Harvey chain. Every year Mr. Dardarian makes an extended trip visiting all the principal cities making a personal survey of the better class restaurants with the object of seeing just how they compare with his restaurant, not only in food, but also in service.

Speaking about a four-week trip he had just made Mr. Dardarian said: "You will have to travel far to find as many first-class restaurants as we have here in Atlanta. As it has been my privilege to know the outstanding chefs in this country and the eastern part of Canada I visited many of them as far up as Toronto and discussed with them the best of the prices of the meals they served. Now I am more satisfied than ever that we here in Atlanta serve the best 50-cent meal in America.

"An outstanding advantage we have in Atlanta is that we can get the best of vegetables fresh all the year around and do not have to raise our prices in season like people living in a colder and less favored climate where they must depend to a considerable extent on canned products to fill the customer's quick lunch or dinner order."

The fact that Harvey's has an internationally known chef in charge of the preparation of all foods and an experienced restaurant manager to see that every one of Harvey's guests is quickly and satisfactorily served, makes a combination that assures the man, woman or child eating there for the first time of leaving with the impression that at last they have found a place where the meals are always good and the service perfect.

Mr. Dardarian said: "We are proud of the many pretty waitresses we have at this time, having lately added two to those we already had and we challenge any large or small hotel or restaurant to show as many pretty girls at one time as we can. The young ladies are of that higher type of American girlhood, and include college graduates and former teachers, and they render that polite service that wins high praise for our restaurant from new and old customers alike and the pleasing part of it all is that notwithstanding general business conditions Harvey's is making a very satisfactory weekly increase in business."

Lucky Atlanta Girl To Get Chance To Enter Pictures

Opportunity to follow in the footsteps of Pola Negri, Tallulah Bankhead and other screen stars is something every girl will welcome and such a chance might be waiting for some Atlanta girl between the ages of 17 and 30 years this week during the Paramount Theater-Constitution "Panther Woman" contest.

Until Friday entries for competition will be received and all girls wishing to enter should mail a photograph and properly executed entry blank at once to the contest manager at the Paramount theater. A group of capable judges selected by The Constitution and the theater management will select 25 of the girls who will be given screen tests with the pictures shown on the Paramount screen for two days, during which time the judges will select the Atlanta girl most suited to compete in the nation's contest for the role of "Panther Woman" in H. G. Wells' "Island of Lost Souls," which will be filmed by Paramount.

Atlanta's candidate for the film role will receive valuable prizes from Atlanta merchants and will compete with girls from all sections of the country in the 19th. The winner of the national judging will be given a five-week contract at $200 a week; transportation to Hollywood and gratis lodging at the famous Hotel Ambassador in Los Angeles. All clothing for wear in the picture will be given free.

In this issue of The Constitution rules will be printed as will an official entry blank.

After all the winning screen tests have been assembled in Hollywood they will be judged by four of the leading directors of the motion picture industry. They are Ernest Lubitsch, Cecil B. DeMille, Rouben Mamoulian and Norman Taurog. (Higher judges will be E. Lloyd Sheldon, Paramount associate producer, and Fred Datz, casting director, who has directed many of the leading film stars in Hollywood.)

Five Judges Named.

Judges of the Atlanta contest are: Robert E. Strickland, president of Strickland Film Corporation; Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, secretary of the

JAMES T. BROCK DIES AT WACO, TEX.

Former Atlantan, Famed as Cotton Broker, Succumbs.

James T. Brock, former Atlantan and prominent retired cotton broker of international repute, died Sunday at his home in Waco, Texas, after a short illness. He would have been 81 years old today.

Born in Lafayette, Ala., Mr. Brock came to Atlanta at an early age and engaged in the tobacco business. He was a charter member of the Capital City Club, and was one of the organizers of the Young Men's Association, which later developed into the Carnegie library. He was a member of a prominent family, and had many well-known relatives in the city.

At the age of 25 he left Atlanta for Texas, and became interested in the cotton brokerage business. He was for many years a leading citizen of Waco, and one of the largest cotton exporters before the World War. He was a partner of the Liverpool, England, firm of Brock & Beckett, and was considered an authority on cotton. Yearly he furnished the United States government cotton survey, which was used for national distribution.

He was a brother of Mrs. William Clarke Rawson, well-known Atlantan; besides his sister, he is survived by the following nieces and nephews: Mrs. Francis Jones, Mrs. George T. Curry, Miss Lamar Jeter, Miss Brock Jeter, Mrs. Clarence Haverly, William C. Rawson, Mrs. William C. Rawson, of Atlanta; Mrs. Charles Rawson and Mrs. W. D. McLean, of Asheville, N. C.; Mrs. James E. Timmons, of Kansas City, Mo.; Mrs. T. H. Graves, of Nashville, Tenn.; Mrs. Lamar Field, of Annapolis, Md., and Mrs. Fred Henderson, of Troy, Ala.

The arrangements for the funeral will be announced by H. M. Patterson & Son.

In Memoriam.

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, who departed this life four years ago today, July 18, 1928.

God grant his memory rest. Never shall his memory fade. Loving thoughts shall ever wander. To the spot where he is laid. MRS. E. F. COOK AND FAMILY.
